

[illegible]

An aerial photograph of a golf course clubhouse area. The map shows a large clubhouse building with a swimming pool and surrounding greenery. A road, labeled 'MALPHRUS ROAD' at the top, runs horizontally across the upper portion of the map. To the right, a road labeled 'BLUFFTON PARKWAY' runs vertically. A large body of water, labeled 'HILTON HEAD NATIONAL CLUBHOUSE' at the bottom, is situated in the lower-left quadrant. The map is overlaid with numerous yellow rectangular labels, each containing a number and a letter (e.g., '1 R', '2 R', '3 R', etc.), indicating specific lots or sections. The labels are arranged in a grid-like pattern, with some sections being larger than others. The overall layout suggests a detailed site plan for a golf course development.

This aerial map illustrates a proposed development area, likely a clubhouse or resort, situated adjacent to a golf course. The map features a large, irregularly shaped lot complex, primarily colored in light green and yellow, which is divided into numerous smaller, numbered lots. The numbering sequence begins at the top left with lot 1R and proceeds in a generally clockwise or row-by-row fashion, ending with lot 341R at the bottom right. The lots are separated by a network of roads and pathways, depicted in grey. A prominent road, labeled 'MALPHRUS ROAD' at the top, runs horizontally across the upper portion of the map. Another road, 'BLUFFTON PARKWAY', runs vertically along the right edge. A large, winding body of water, shown in blue, occupies the lower-left and central portions of the map. The area is bordered by dense green trees and vegetation. In the bottom right corner, the text 'HILTON HEAD NATIONAL CLUBHOUSE' is visible, indicating the proximity of the development to the existing clubhouse. The map also shows some existing structures, including a large building complex near the top center and a smaller building near the bottom center, both surrounded by landscaped areas with trees and lawns.